TDI duty review keeps its scope; replies due November 27

DGTR keeps the scope of its review of anti-dumping duty on TDI from China, Japan and South Korea, adopts no PCNs, and moves replies to November 27, 2026.

THE DIRECTORATE GENERAL of Trade Remedies (DGTR), Department of Commerce, sent this letter to all interested parties on November 12, 2026 (F. No. 7/24/2026-DGTR). It concerns the investigation into imports of Toluene Di-Isocyanate (TDI) from China, Japan and South Korea, which DGTR started by Initiation Notification F. No. 7/24/2026-DGTR dated September 30, 2026. That notification opened a sunset review of the anti-dumping duty in force on TDI, under SETU Case ID AD/SSR/011/2026. Vivek Singh, Director, signed the letter with the approval of the Designated Authority.

DGTR · November 12, 2026

The Directorate General of Trade Remedies (DGTR), Department of Commerce, sent this letter to all interested parties on November 12, 2026 (F. No. 7/24/2026-DGTR). It concerns the investigation into imports of Toluene Di-Isocyanate (TDI) from China, Japan and South Korea, which DGTR started by Initiation Notification F. No. 7/24/2026-DGTR dated September 30, 2026. That notification opened a sunset review of the anti-dumping duty in force on TDI, under SETU Case ID AD/SSR/011/2026. Vivek Singh, Director, signed the letter with the approval of the Designated Authority.

DGTR sent intimation letters to the known interested parties on October 6, 2026, giving them until October 21, 2026 to comment on the scope of the product under consideration (PUC) and propose a product control number (PCN) methodology. None of the registered parties commented or proposed PCNs by then. So the scope stays as defined in the Initiation Notification, with no change. Neither the applicant nor any other party proposed a PCN methodology in time, so DGTR adopts none.

The letter says it settles the scope only for running the investigation. Any party may still make submissions on the scope, including a request to exclude a product, if it backs them with information and evidence. DGTR will decide the scope for any measure it recommends after examining the record.

Questionnaire responses were due by November 12, 2026. After several requests, DGTR has granted 15 more days, so all interested parties must file by November 27, 2026, on the scope defined in the Initiation Notification. It says it'll grant no further extension, as trade remedy investigations are time bound. The letter gives no finding on dumping or injury.

Under the initiation (Gazette CG-DL-E-08102026-276933), the product is TDI with an isomer ratio of 80:20 (2,4-TDI and 2,6-TDI); all other grades are outside the scope. It's classified under 2929 10 20 and used to make flexible polyurethane foam. The applicant is Gujarat Narmada Valley Fertilizers & Chemicals Limited, the sole Indian producer, and the period of investigation is April 1, 2025 to March 31, 2026. The duty under review was continued by Customs Notification No. 28/2022-Customs (ADD) of September 21, 2022 and is in force until September 20, 2027.
