Order requiring the Standard Mark on oil pressure stoves (1997)

Ministry of Industry (Department of Industrial Policy & Promotion)

S.O. 451(E) is an order of the Ministry of Industry (Department of Industrial Policy & Promotion), dated June 16, 1997, made under section 3 of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955, in supersession of an earlier order on oil pressure stoves. It defines oil pressure stoves as burning appliances that burn pressurised kerosene oil, and the prescribed standard as the Indian Standard specification of oil pressure stove prescribed by the Bureau of Indian Standards.

Manufacturers must apply to the Bureau for a licence to use the Standard Mark before manufacture or production and may not manufacture until it is granted; the Bureau is to inform the Appropriate Authority when a licence lapses or is cancelled. No person may store for sale, sell or distribute an oil pressure stove which does not bear the Standard Mark and which has not been manufactured by a person who has obtained a licence for the purpose. Samples drawn to check conformity are tested in a laboratory approved by the Bureau.

The order is implemented by an Appropriate Authority appointed by the Central or a State Government, with powers to call for information and samples, inspect records, issue directions, and search premises and seize stoves through officers of Gazetted rank. Its penalty paragraph refers to the Essential Commodities Act, 1955.

The copy available is a scanned image in which the order's title and its commencement date are not legible, and the legible text names no Indian Standard number. No amendment appears among the notifications recorded for this order, which is listed as in force.
